What are the Civic Society Awards?

The 2023 Civic Society awards will recognize excellence and honour the achievements of those who have contributed to the special quality of Alnwick over the last six years.

We want to take account of as many views as possible so we are inviting anyone to nominate a project or initiative that makes an outstanding contribution to our town.

Past Civic Society Awards have recognised excellence in heritage conservation and high standards in new development. They have honoured those who improve the condition of our town, and those who raise awareness and improve understanding of our heritage. Recipients have included projects that went on to gain national recognition and individuals who conserved their own home, or made a difference in their neighbourhood.

How can you help?

We want to encourage a lively discussion about:

...developments that will leave a lasting mark

...those who make a special effort to improve our town

...projects that set a good example for others to follow

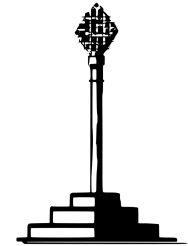

Anyone can nominate a project or initiative that they believe deserves an award. You can even nominate something you have done yourself (as long as you have support from someone else).

The closing date for nominations is 1st September 2023. An independent panel will then consider nominations and awards will be made at the end of the year.

The panel will judge nominations on the extent to which they:

- Promote high standards of planning and architecture
- Educate and inform the public (we are particularly keen to see examples that raise awareness and understanding of our built and natural environment)
- Preserve, protect, develop and improve features of interest in Alnwick

Alnwick Civic Society 2023 Awards

Alnwick is a special place and Civic Society Awards recognize those who help keep it that way.

Anyone can nominate a project or initiative that has made an outstanding difference to our town.
